11. This ten mile structure must be found between the land of Zarahemla and land of Cumorah

This would have to be the largest structure in all of Maya Land

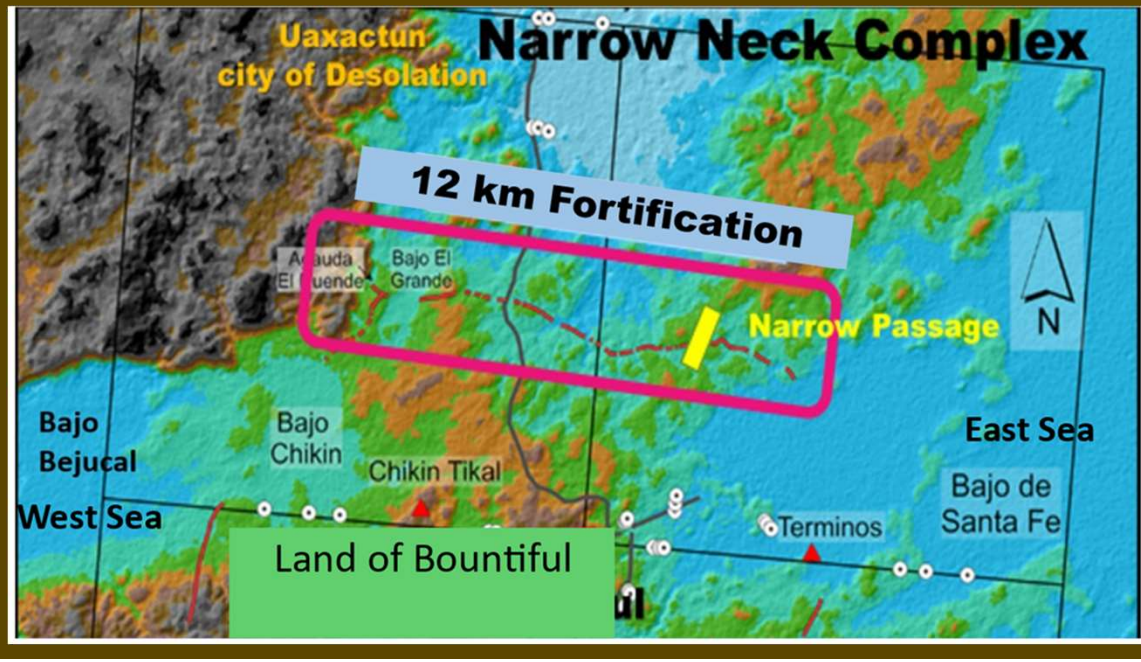

The East Sea and the West Sea

The scriptures are very clear about the existence of the West Sea and East Sea. However, in this model, these seas (lakes) are obscure and could cast doubts on claims that the Bajo's are remnants of the East and West Seas. We also have to rely on three realities: (1) There are over two hundred evidences that point to the Target Area and (2) There is scientific proof that these two Bajoes were ancient lakes (seas) during Book of Mormon times and (3) the other ten features of the Narrow Neck complex are very real and provide a major support for the ancient seas.

The topography map at the top the pages shows two-2-kilometer gaps between the end of the fortification and the edge of the Bajo's. This is solid evidence that there were times in the past where water level had to be much higher in order to meet the ends fortifications. Otherwise, the fortifications would have no value.

Richard Hansen, a renowned archeologist in the Meridor Basin claims that during critical times in the Book of Mormon, the Bajo's were filled with water for decades at time.

15. The Narrow Neck of Land Complex
La Corona
El Achiotal
San Bartolo
Ancient East Sea
Land Northward
Uaxactun
Desolation City
Ancient East Sea
Cival
Narrow Neck
Teancum
Narrow Pass
El Zote
Tikal
Libs City
Ancient West Sea
Land of Bountiful
Land of Zarahemla
Land Southward
0
25
50 Kilometros